List of topics covered	The main subject areas covered in the course are: the principles and players of corporate governance;

	the board of directors and its specialized tasks; the regulatory framework; shareholder's activism; corporate ethics and culture and international corporate governance.
Teaching format	This course will use a combination of lectures, scientific articles, case discussions, professional expert presentations and online reading to study corporate governance. Class activities will be a mix of lecture, case study presentations, and interactive class discussions aimed at demonstrating a principle in action.  Class participation and active discussion is both expected and encouraged to apply theoretical concepts to realistic business-related situations. Students are expected to have thoroughly read all the assigned material in advance of the class to ensure a meaningful class participation.  The course will also host Guest Lecturers that will present specific corporate governance issues and practices.

Loorning outcomes	Vnowledge and understanding.
Learning outcomes	Knowledge and understanding: Understanding of the field of corporate governance, its core concepts and terminology, its relevance and practices, as well as some debates in the field. Students will understand the key mechanisms of corporate governance, the policies influencing them, and the empirical methods used in this subject.
	Applying knowledge and making judgement:
	The course will focus on assessing the effectiveness of governance roles and responsibilities, understanding strengths and weaknesses, recognizing the implications of behaviors and actions. Students will develop skills for addressing difficult governance situations and discuss the topics that continue to spark scientific and regulatory debates. Governance is contextual and requires judgment. Students should expect to grapple with ambiguous situations that do not have simple solutions.
	Communication and Learning skills: Ability to present in oral and written form an analysis of business solutions in response to specific issues related to corporate governance and business ethics.

Assessment	Attending Students

	Student final grade will be a mixture of participation in case study discussions/presentations (approx. 50%) and final exam (approx. 50%).  The final exam is a combination of problems and essay questions. The Final exam 's objective is to assess how well students understand the material covered throughout the course (comprehension) and the interconnections (integration) among the various topics.  Case studies will be assigned during the semester to be completed in writing a business report or PPT slides and presented in class by groups of students. The case studies measure the student's ability to search for the relevant economic information that apply to a specific business problem, stimulate them to analyze the problem, and provide managerial recommendations to address it. Presentations in class allow the discussion of the solutions suggested in an interactive way.  Non Attending Students Non attending students will be assessed through a final exam test (100%) that covers all course material. The final exam's format and mode for attending students may differ from the one for non-attending.
